

LOUISIANA

Louisiana Sexuality Education Law and Policy

Louisiana does not require schools to offer sexuality or sexually transmitted disease (STD)/HIV education, but schools are permitted to offer it after sixth grade. State law mandates that sexuality education cannot be offered in kindergarten through sixth grade, except in Orleans Parish, which may offer sexuality education in the third grade and above. Schools must provide this education “regardless of the student’s grade level” if the student is parenting or pregnant.¹ The education must be integrated into “an existing course study such as biology, science, physical hygiene, or physical education.”² It cannot include “religious beliefs, practices in human sexuality, nor the subjective moral and ethical judgments of the instructor or other persons. Students shall not be tested, quizzed, or surveyed about their personal or family beliefs or practices in sex, morality, or religion.”³ According to the Louisiana Handbook for School Administrators, students must be taught “the principle modes by which communicable diseases, including, but not limited to, HIV infection, are spread and the best methods for the restriction and prevention of these diseases.”⁴ Schools are prohibited from distributing any “contraceptive or abortifacient drug, device, or other similar product.”⁵

Classes may not include “any sexually explicit materials depicting male or female homosexual activity.”⁶ They also may not in “any way counsel or advocate abortion.”⁷ In addition, this education must emphasize that:

- abstinence from sexual activity outside of marriage is the expected standard for all school-age children;
- abstinence from sexual activity is a way to avoid unwanted pregnancy, sexually transmitted diseases, including acquired immune deficiency syndrome, and other associated health problems; and
- each student has the power to control personal behavior and to encourage students to base action on reasoning, self-esteem, and respect for others.⁸

Louisiana also requires that all public high schools that offer home economics classes must also provide “parenthood education,” which must include the topics of family living and community relationships, the consequences of the lack of adequate prenatal care, home management, and the responsibilities of parenthood. In addition, Louisiana now requires that adoption awareness be included in any health education or appropriate class. This includes instruction on “the benefits of adoption for families wishing to add a child, for potential adoptees, and for persons who are pregnant or who have a child for whom they are unable to care.”⁹

Parents or guardians may remove their children from sexuality education and/or STD/HIV education classes. This is referred to as an “opt-out” policy.

See Louisiana Revised Statutes Annotated §§ 17:263, 17:279, and 17:281, and Louisiana Handbook for School Administrators- Bulletin 741.

Recent Legislation

Bill to “Require Rather Than Authorize” Sexuality Education

House Bill 529, introduced in March 2010, would have required sex education for public school students in grades four through 12. Instruction would have had to be medically accurate and age-appropriate, and would have included: information about human sexuality as a normal aspect of human development; the benefits of abstinence; the importance of using contraceptives and barrier methods for preventing unwanted pregnancy and STDs; and an emphasis on encouraging students to talk with their parents about sexuality. Sex education would not be allowed to advocate or support abortion. The state board of education would have been responsible for developing guidelines and determining appropriate curricula and teaching materials, and parents would have been allowed to review all materials and request that their child be excused from instruction. The bill would have also allowed public school districts to accept federal funds for sex education, provided that the use of these funds would not violate the provisions of the bill. The bill passed out of the House Committee on Education, but was rejected by the full House by a vote of 67–23.

²⁵ This refers to the federal government’s fiscal year, which begins on October 1st and ends on September 30th. The fiscal year is designated by the calendar year in which it ends; for example, Fiscal Year 2009 began on October 1, 2008 and ended on September 30, 2009.

²⁶ SIECUS estimated this amount based on the amount of total funding the Louisiana was allocated in previous fiscal years. Despite repeated attempts to contact the Governor’s Program on Abstinence, representatives in the office refused to provide SIECUS with the exact amount of funding received by the state.

²⁷ Through the Fiscal Year 2010 appropriations process, Congress eliminated all discretionary funding for abstinence-only-until-marriage programs, including the entire CBAE program and the abstinence-only-until-marriage portion of AFLA. The grant years listed in the chart reflect the years for which funding was originally approved; however, the grants effectively ended in Fiscal Year 2009.

²⁸ SIECUS has identified this person as a state-based contact for information on adolescent health and if applicable, abstinence-only-until-marriage programs.
